Instructional Materials

- The Proclamation 2015 contracts with the social studies publishers expired at the end of the 2022–23 school year. The publishers of SBOE-adopted social studies materials were offered the opportunity to renew their contracts for the gap years. The renewal packages are on the current adoption bulletin.
- The instructional materials review and approval process is changing as a result of HB 1605 (88th Legislature, Regular Session, 2023). The SBOE did not direct TEA to include social studies in the first round of reviews under the new process and did not indicate when they intend to do so.
- Districts received their biennial instructional materials and technology allotment in September 2023. While there is not money specifically set aside for gap-years materials, districts are able to spend that funding on materials needed to meet the district’s needs and to cover 100% of the TEKS.

Instructional Materials

- The State Board of Education (SBOE) voted on November 18th, 2022, to amend their instructional materials adoption cycle to remove Proclamation 2025, which would have included a call for new social studies materials.
- To address the revisions to the social studies TEKS that were adopted in November 2022, the SBOE advised TEA staff to offer publishers of SBOE-adopted social studies materials the opportunity to update their materials.

Committee of the Full Board

Wednesday, November 15th, 2023, Item 6

- Amie Phillips, director, instructional materials review and approval, district operations, technology, and sustainability supports division, provided an update on K–12 instructional materials for social studies and an overview of the history of the current social studies TEKS.
- Ms. Phillips noted that the alignment of the TEKS to requirements in Senate Bill 3, 87th Texas Legislature, Second Called Session, 2021, has resulted in TEKS coverage reports for social studies instructional materials that are no longer accurate.
- The SBOE instructed TEA to recalculate TEKS coverage of approved K–12 social studies instructional materials and follow the existing approved process to allow publishers to submit updated instructional materials for review.

House Bill 1605

House Bill (HB) 1605, 88th Texas Legislature, Regular Session, 2023, addresses Instructional Materials Review and Approval (IMRA), as well as the extension of additional state aid to school districts for the provision of certain instructional materials. TEA recognizes that the impacts of HB 1605 may be significant for some local educational agencies (LEAs). While those impacts are analyzed, TEA will continue to provide subsequent communications.

Web pages and communications will be updated as much as possible as the State Board of Education (SBOE) completes rulemaking procedures for the IMRA process. However, complete edits cannot be made to some of these resources until the SBOE rulemaking procedures for the IMRA process have ended. While the SBOE completes its rulemaking process, LEAs must comply with HB 1605 requirements and use the webinar series for assistance with implementation.
